

Serrated, inclined structurally glazed twin skin with perforated bronze anodised sheeting behind.

Rear elevation to complex

Main entrance structurally glazed canopy

Criminal Courts Complex, Dublin

Architect : Henry J. Lyons

The Criminal Courts Complex is one of the first Public Private Partnership projects to be completed in Ireland. Its facade comprises a 21m tall wide flue twin skin or climate wall construction. The twin skin outer wall is suspended from the roof structure and comprises a serrated and overhanging assembly of large format (7m tall x 2m wide) low - iron structurally glazed panels. The inner wall is screened via a series of bespoke perforated patterned and folded bronze anodised aluminium sheeting.